Captured and Put in Forest Park Zoo, He Is Released, Then Escapes Again.

Harold, a small white-faced monkey, felt the call of spring yesterday. Taken out for an airing for the first time since last fall, he broke his chain and escaped for a glorious jamboree. As far as Park where mounted policemen are looking for him.

The monkey, a member of the vivacious rhesus family, is the pet of John H. Barry, 19 years old, of 3954 Shenandoah avenue, a sprinton the Cleveland High School track team. Yesterday was such a fine day that young Barry took Harold out in the yard. During the afternoon the maid at the Barry home reported Harold habroken loose and disappeared.

The monkey, meanwhile, had made his way over fences and down the alley to 4010 Shenandoat avenue, where he pre-empted the style all who tried to dislodge him Finally, William Lawler of 4029 Botanical avenue captured the tiny animal and he was turned over to city detectives, who took him to the Magnolia Avenue Police Station. There Harold continued his rowdy tactics. He finally was or dered taken to the monkey house in Forest Park . He became quite subdued when he was removed to a police automobile and on the way to the park apsed from his reverie only once when he scratched Lawler's left arm, quite severely. The errant Simian was quiet as a keeper thrust him into a cage with other members of his family.

Later in the evening, Harold's young master heard of the plight of his pet and hurried to the park, where he obtained the monkey. The little adventurer seemed quite affected by the reunion, but he had an ulterior motive, as events

As he was being driven through the park he slipped his chain again and escaped.

tions at Fireworks Station Getting Out of Control.

A health inspector and a nurse o assist in combating an epidemic of measles and scarlet fever at ated village adjoining the south-eastern limits of East St. Louis, were appealed for from the Illinois State Health Department at Springfield yesterday by John Connors. Health Commissioner of East

Paul Kisselbach, chairman of the centerville Township Health Board, who carried the appeal to onnors when the situation seemed to be getting out of control, said that 209 of the $21 pupils in Lafayette School, Fireworks Station, are out of school and that the condition had been growing for six

He said that few parents were reporting cases, and only 25 houses were placarded, virtually all the cases having been discovered by chance. He estimated that there were 50 or 60 cases, predominantly measles, explaining that many pupils were kept out of school to avoid contagion. An East St. Louis physician who was treating a number of patients in the settlement said he had one case of smallpox, and that about 80 per cent of the others were measles, which was of brief duration. Health Commis-sioner Connors said he was prepared to quarantine the town if danger appeared of the contagion spreading outside its limits.

Socrates will not need to be told that those who learn all there is in this table are under obligations to keep silence for seven years before beginning to explain how it is impossible for anyone who knows how to count on his fingers from the cube of three to the square of six to write "free verse" or to read "polyphonic prose" with-out a shudder.

Between 36 on the right at the top and six on the left just above the rule there is a liberal education in symmetry applied to all the arts by anyone who has four fingers and a thumb, making five digits, which he is willing to use in squaring himself with his artistic conscience. Mr. Joseph D. Heade has a conscience of this sort, if he will only listen to it. Remember the "gol-den mean." Watch the "middle number." Note that 36, an eight, a seven and a six are six square plus three times seven; that 36 is seven, a six and a five, are six square. plus three times six. Construct a diagram accordingly and then go as far as you like.

After you are through with the sixes, try it out in the same way on the sacred num-ber SEVEN, and send your diagram to Mr. Einstein, who thinks no one knows what he is doing when he is trying to subtract infinity plus from infinity minus.

As Plato, pupil of Socrates, put over his porch: "Let no one enter here who is not a geometer," I advise Socrates to beware of beams and to give his class a course of lectures on the use of the thumb in bringing the whole of his five digits to bear against ragtime in the use of language. SUCCESS.

Success. This seems to be such a favorite theme with writers prone to dole out advice to their less fortunate fellow creatures, that we encounter it quite as often as the overworked words "psychology" and "economic. But what is success? That should depend on the nature of the individual. First, of course, fortunate possession of the wherewithal to provide contentment and comfort, and the consciousness of being quit of and clear of that wolf at the door; but beyond hat, what? That should depend on whether the individual is plain or pretentious; whether he must have much, or is content with little; whether he has his reward in the consciousness of a life well spent, or whether he cannot thrive without the applause and adulation of the public. All who read, know what success means to most of our statesmen. Statesmen, we mean, of the worthy type; men of unblemished honor and integrity, who will stand or fall by a principle that they believe to be right. What is the reward of this type, who deserve the respect and gratitude of their fellow creatures; of the public and the country which they faithfully serve? Abuse. In many cases, scurrilous abuse. To realize the nature of it, one has but to imagine himself publicly subjected to it, and wonder how they can ever lift up their heads again. But it is the consciousness of honor that impregnates their whole being that enables them to do that. We have in mind one of our lamented public men in Congress during the war. He was a good man, if there ever was a good man; honorable, if there ever was such a thing as honor; steadfast and true to a principle, if ever that quality distinguished any man in public or private life; but his ideas and principles ran afoul of the hosts of fanatics who had their inning during that period of our history; and since that time, "success," in the usual acceptation of the term, has not been such an alluring thing to contemplate, and civilization has not seemed so far advanced as we thought it was before.

The "general public" can be lavish in its adulation and its praise, but it can also go to the other extreme in venomous attacks. Under the circumstances, perhaps it would be well to bear this in mind while we are making a fetich of "success," and laborious-ly climbing the ladder from which so many ERNEST DEBERTSHAUSER.

The New Yorker says the Florida boom has passed its peak and is subsiding gradually. If that is so, we are mighty thankful. We were afraid it would suddenly blow up and hurl grapefruit seed around until there would not be one of his left. If it is to be nothing worse that a flat tire we can weather it all right.

Such is the state of life that hone are happy but by the anticipation of change. The change itself is nothing: when we have made it the next wish is to change again.

THE INTEGRITY OF THE COURTS.

From the Virginia (Ill.) Republican-Gazetta T HE Judiciary Committee of the Federal I House of Representatives has voted for articles of impeachment in the case of Judge English, United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Illinois.

According to press reports, in all probability the House of Representatives will frame articles of impeachment, thus bringthe Senate.

The proof of the wrongdoing of Judy English, upon which the committee acted seems to be of such a convincing character as to foreshadow his conviction.

Judge English is an appointee of Presdent Wilson. At the time of his appointment, English was well advanced in middle life in the full maturity of such powers as he possessed—and his previous record seemed to assure many years of honorable service upon the

What has caused his downfall? There must be a psychological point involved. Most men can serve in the ranks but for are able to occupy places of responsibility and power.

The House committee not only found from the evidence submitted to it, that Judge English prostituted himself and beirard his trust for the sake of money gain, but it also found that during the progress d judicial hearings he was insulting to pulcial hearings he was insulting to gants appearing before him—that he ed tyrannical methods with respect to bers of the bar who appeared before and that he did not hesitate to take at tage of his position to humiliate lawyers high standing and to disbar them from the high property without restricts in his court without restricts.

tice in his court without reason.

It has found that he failed to enhance courtesy, patience, forbearance and kinds when presiding on the bench, that he lacked what is called the judicial temperament that he had favorites among the have who appeared in his court.

But man, proud man, Drest in a little brief authority, Most ignorant of what he's most assured,

The proper care of your teeth and gums

No more Pyorrhea? PYORRHEA, the most dreaded of all gum diseases, usually begins as an irritation of the tissues of The Danger Line-where gums meet teeth. If those tissues are kept in a healthy condition, dentists say, Pyorrhea rarely if ever occurs.

Infections of the gums are often, if not always. the result of an acid condition at The Danger Line. Acids forming there not only irritate the gums and reduce their resistance to disease, but also, in conjunction with natural mouth moisture, afford a favorable medium for the rapid multiplication of Squibb's Dental Cream, which contains more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, neutralizes the acids that form at The Danger Line, not only at the time of use, but for a considerable period thereafter, because minute particles of the antacid Milk of Magnesia remain between the teeth and in crevices along The Danger Line.

The effectiveness of Squibb's Dental Cream in protecting gums from irritation and teeth from decay has been amply proved not only in the laboratory, but by long clinical tests. Perhaps it is not too much to hope that, with the more general use of this modern dentifrice, Pyorrhea may be largely prevented or kept under much better control. Six Men and Woman in Custody in New York-Two Murders Laid to Band.

NEW YORK, March 24.—All the members of what is regarded as the most daring criminal gang caught in New York in years were custody today. The loot of the band of six men and a woman is estimated at $1,000,000, obtained mostly by sensational jewel robberies. In addition, at least two murders are laid to them. Members of the gang were dressed in the height of fashion and had expensive automobiles.

They frequented night clubs and exclusive cabarets of the class frequently padlocked, and in them planned some of their biggest coups. The first members of the band to be arrested were caught when leaving a club.

The last man, William J. Unkel-pack, sought for participating in wo diamond robberies amounting o $150,000, attributed to the band, was arrested last night in a fur-nished room. The police say Un-kelback told them that Simon Gilden, once a member of the gang. was killed last December for balk ng at orders. His body was found propped against a tombstone in Trinity Churchyard. Joseph Ross, believed to have been another member of the gang, was mur-dered in Elizabeth, N. J. "Whittemore," the detectives quoted Unkelback as saying, "has

way of doing away with subrdinates who balk at orders." Reuben Morris, Unkelback's companion, in his room, was arrested on suspicion of aiding in the recent robbery of Reuben's retagurant on Broadway, where $5500 was stolen Arrests During Holdup.

Three other men, suspected of earticipation in the holdup of Ret en's, were arrested yesterday, durng a daring robbery at the Owl Restaurant, near by. They were captured after police had been called by hat check girls, who had slipped out an unguarded exit while the orchestra was playing at the robbers' orders. Mrs. Isaao George Waterman of Philadelphia concleade a pearl necklace valued at $60,000 in her stocking and the robbers obtained only a small amount from her.

All of Whittemore's band admit and say their motive was to get easy money for gambling, drugs and luxurious living.

Although a veritable arsenal was found on arrest of the various members of the gang, District Attorney Banton said taht not a shot had been fired by them in any of Whittemore, the Leader. Richard Reese Whittemore, the eader, is wanted in Baltimore on charge of murdering Robert Holtman, 60 - year - old prison guard, during his escape two weeks sentence of ten years a year ago. Detectives said that Whittemore egarded himself as a super-bandit and above the law. He comes of respectable Baltimore family but as early as his Sunday School days, York, Baltimore, Buffalo and Cleveland have been the scenes of his activities.

"The Tiger Girl." who says she years ago, is described by police as a typical "gunman's moll," whose function was to carry the gang's weapons so they might evade arrest for carrying concealed weapons. She is charged with one holdup at pistol point in New York.

MASTERY of POWER

THE essence of fine engineering is consistent evenness and ease at any speed and all speeds. You will find this one of the cardinal characteristics of the Chrysler Imperial "80". Frequently even a fine car plunges from a lower to a higher speed. In the Imperial "80" the transition is so swift and so soft that one speed merely merges into another. And you, sitting in the front seat or in the rear, simply sit as you sat before, whether the mileage registers forty or twice that figure. Chrysler Imperial "80" does not stand for power and speed but for a mastery of power and speed which gives to motoring a thrill it has not had before.

Public Works Commissioner Says That in 10 Years There Will Be No More Homes on Street. NEW YORK, March 24.—Plans have been approved to widen Fifth avenue five feet from Sixtieth street north along Central Park to Ninety-sixth street. On the other side of the park it is proposed to widen Central Park west 15 feet from Columbus Circle to 110th street, two and a half miles. The cost will be approximately $400.000 and work will begin as soon as the oney is appropriated. The residents are not to be assessed.

The plan, as explained by Commissioner of Public Works Johnsop of Manhattan, is due to the changing character of upper Fifth avenue, once the street of expensive homes.

"Ten years from now," Johnson said. "there will be no more pri vate homes along Fifth avenue When it has become a street o great apartment houses the widening to 55 feet will not involve the destruction of any stoop line."

Although there were reports after the 1925 world series that the Pittsburg club, despite its victories, would reconstruct the infield, replacing Moore at second and possibly Grantham at first, Manager McKechnie appears to be satisfied now that the combination that won the pennant and world championship is his best bet. BACKACHE GIVEN QUICK RELIEF

Tried simple home treatment and pain stops

In aching back is often the result of tired, over-strained muscles, and can be given quick and complete relief with a very simple home treatment.

"I had such a backache I didn't know what to do," writes a New York woman. "I looked through my medicine cabinet to see if I could find something to help me—and there was bottle of Sloan's Liniment. I used and in half an hour I was better.

The next day I went to a big engagement party. Now, when anyone has a pain, I say 'use Sloan's.' The marvelous effectiveness of Sloan's is due to the stimulating effect that it has upon the circulation. Straight to the sick, aching tissues, it sends a healing tide of fresh new blood—clears out the trouble—kills the pain.

So many people have the mistaken idea that if it's a Weber-Pledged Used Car it is necessarily expensive. They argue that things worth while are never given away, and that the Weber Pledged Used Car is undoubtedly the highest grade of used cars. They are agreeably surprised when they visit our various showrooms and find, in spite of our used car haveing been expertly reconditioned, beautifully painted, thoroughly overhauled, and backed by the famous Weber Pledge, (a most powerful of used car guarantees), our prices are still consistently lowest and there is no time like right now for you to find that out by yourself.

Three Million Cars Junked Every Year

Such an authority as Petroleum Age estimater that the demise of three million motor vehicl every year is due in a large measure to faul. lubrication and greasing.

Cheap cars, expensive cars-three million of them-sent to the scrap heap for want of the right oil.

You may have considered lubrication unimportant. Oil is the life blood of the engine-as the impressive statement quoted above strikingly proves.

You will not realize "full value" from your car investment, if faulty lubrication sends it to the scrap heap ahead of time.

Many repair bills and many bills for over-hauling are the direct result of failure to appreciate the importance of proper lubrication.

No motorist is deliberately careless about so important a question as lubrication, but many are thoughtlessly careless.

It is a simple matter to keep your car perfectly oiled at all times. Use Polarine!

You can benefit from the years of scientific work of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) staff of lubricating engineers.

Consult chart At Any Standard Oil Service Station or Authorized Garage. It will tell you the exact grade of Polarine to give perfect lubrication in your individual car.

Drain your crankcase. Cleanse your motor thoroughly with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refill with the correct grade of Polarine as specified. Do this regularly and at frequent intervals and your car will last longer.

Correct and scientific lubrication pays!

CHAPTER XXX Wings of the Wind.

S the car dashed onward Carolita had the sensation of being borne upon the wings of the wind. Faster and faster it dashed, swaying from one side of the road to the other, while the girl was tossed from roof to floor and back on to the seat again-

Dawn was showing far off when the driver pulled up beside a clump of trees and rocks and, descending from his seat, opened the rear door of the car.

'Missy.' he said respectfully, "nice boy's clothes on floor, Missy dress, yes? Then Jap boy cut Missy's hair, please, yes? Best to do, Missy, bad people find Missy rhaps, yes? Jap boy no let them f Missy be boy!

Carolita obeyed automatically, too weak and tired to protest, and it was a relief to peel off the damp bedraggled night dress and climb into a pair of boy's trousers, shirt sneakers and socks, and a cap to complete the outfit. For the first time her sense of humor asserted How funny she must look! What would the Sisters think?

When she had finished dressing she descended from the car and while the Jap boy carried off the old gown and blanket she bathed her hands and face in the tiny spring which spouted from the Presently the Jap with a pair of shears and deftly clipped off her dark locks, con-cealing them in an underbrush with the greatest care. The loss of her hair was not so amusing and brought a few tears, yet she dared tude, and he beamed upon her. "This is the strangest of all my adventures," Carolita thought, as between the violent lurches of the car she nibbled away at a sandwich. It was a little less difficult to cling to the front seat, but still it was rough enough to require 'I'll soon be dead of fatigue," she thought. "Oh, if only I knew the meaning of it all!"

"Now, Missy," the Japanese directed, "you Mexico boy, friend of Sako, see California soon, Missy not know much, not see California before, live in country always on

As the day progressed with no undue adventures her nerves reaxed. In spite of great weariness. she was contented, almost happy, mories of the last days growing fainter and fainter, until she won ered if it had not all been a dream! Still her present position was real enough, her shorn locks, her boy's clothes!

The country through which the car plunged was a lonely one. sparsely inhabited. Carolita could not decide whether it was the same she had traveled over with the two Milanas, for both trips had been made at such a tremendous speed. She remembered the large town through which they had driven on the way down. Surely they ad driven far enough to reach it! They must be upon a different

So much for that! Smart way was evidently also a much longer way! Carolita was beginning think that a good hot meal with a chance to stretch her tired limbs would be the next best thing to the uch-heralded Kingdom of Heav-n! When would this wild adventure culminate? The day passed, the shadows lengthened, darkness fell. Once they halted while Sako refilled his gas tank. The stop was made at a ican who waited upon them stared at Carolita so rudely that it frightened her. On their way again. Fatigue was becoming pain-

"Sako," her voice was faint with exhaustion, "daren't you tell no my enemies are, or are they your enemies? From whom are we running away? What is the danger that threatens us?" "Missy have big enemies, try to steal Missy!"

"I must be the most popular girl in America!" She smiled at her fancy. "So many people seem to need me-so suddenly!

Her thoughts were brought to a halt by an event so unexpected and so alarming that it threw her once more into a panic. While running through the next tiny settlement the car was followed by men, firing shots in their wake! "Bums no quick enough," Sako

"Sake he muchly assured her. "Bums? Who were those men, what did they want?" she ques-

It was night, stars overhead to light the way. What excitement had gone before faded to nothingness before the reality of the present, for now each step in their progress was attended by imminent danger. Fortunately it held fast, and in an instant his arms seized her, she was rushed from the car, dashed into a clump of underbrush, standing out clearly in the starlight, and thrown violently down upon the ground in the interior of what appeared to be a low hut or cave, she could not tell which.

"Muchly quiet!" Sako warned "Sako die first, then Missy tell she go to Paul Reynolds, San-

-For-SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

Enough and a Little More.

DO'S AND DON'TS

O DO enough is not sufficient. To do enough and a little more is the means whereby reputations are made, promotions achieved, and fortunes accu-

Is it merely your aim to "get by" in business, or in life itself? Or do you aspire to the "something more" which makes for success? For a man or woman who expects to get nothing out of his business except a mere living, it may be sufficient to give only enough service to satisfy the time-clock and the pay-roll.

Many a boy and girl went through school that way. But where are they now?

It was the student who went after his books as if they were life itself who headed his class. And notwithstanding some seemingly negative statistics, it is the man who headed his class in college or high school who is usually heading his own business today.

Application, brains, and willingness to give full measure for value received count. Nothing takes their place. Habits of mind are formed about the same time as the second teeth. And they do not change considerably until the end of the Individuals and organizations have much in common. In no respect is the affinity closer than in the custom of weighing the service for the payment. If it is one's mental habit to give only within a penny's worth of what is demanded, one can never hope to think in terms of the

"super service" which is the essence of extraordinary success. The man or woman who puts through the biggest business deals and in the end exacts the biggest pay or highest commission-is the one who never cheats or stints on appearances, and whose first thought is maintaining a pleased and satisfied clientele.

Weigh your service too closely and you may make a large sum of money the first time, but will seldom repeat a contract. Exceed what is required, in the start, and you will be retained at an increase, Giving short weight, in goods or services, kills trade. Giving enough and a little more results in life-long connections.

THERE are both proved ways and unproved ways in skin care.
The wise woman chooses the proved way. A good complexion is too priceless for experiment.

THE RULE AND HOW TO FOLLOW IT FOR BEST RESULTS

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it oftly into the skin. Rinse thorfirst with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often ealarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—salurolly colorful and clear. Chicago, Illinois.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one pur-pose only: to safeguard your com-plexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins roves its effectiveness beyond doubt.
